This moderated on-line forum offers information on topics such as:

- I'm newly diagnosed and would like to talk to someone who has been through this.
- What is a Low Iodine Diet?
- I'm having radioactive iodine treatment, and want to know what to expect.

- Join the Thry'vors listserv and receive a quarterly e-newsletter
- Donate your time and talent to help other members, join a committee, or serve on the Board of Directors
- Make a tax-deductible donation to support Thry'vors' programs and services

There is a special singular bond that can only be formed with others that have endured the same disease. I believe we have all become "kindred spirits" with one another through what will become a life long journey.

Who We Are

Thry'vors is an incorporated non-profit organization and federally registered charity.

Our group is led by men and women who are themselves thyroid cancer survivors, sharing their experiences and lending support to others with thyroid cancer.

We benefit from the expertise of a Medical Advisory Panel of thyroid cancer experts, who offer information and guidance as needed.

Our goal is to connect with patients and their families who want support and information about the disease.

Thry'vors Listserv

The Thry'vors listserv is an on-line forum for thyroid cancer patients and their families. It is a virtual community with members from across Canada. The listserv provides a meeting-place for thyroid cancer patients and a means to connect, inform and support each other.

Some listserv members are newly diagnosed and have questions and fears. Others have been through many of the treatment procedures and have experiences and suggestions to offer.

The listserv is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. People at all stages on the road to recovery, from newly diagnosed to long-term survivors, are able to share and guide one another.
